

Strike Called; Work Halted in 2 Y Bldgs.

Work on the Fine Arts Bldg. and the Y Student Union Bldg. was halted Wednesday when members of the Workers Union of a strike against the Alfred E. Conkling, contractors on buildings.

According to Jack Frank, superintendent on the Fine Arts Bldg., the strike was called because of wage increases. He also stated that the strike involved 150 men, his crew.

One man working on the student Union Bldg. was a member of the striking union. Over 100 others will not go to work because of the picket line established at the corner of the campus. They are picketing the campus as private property.

Few workers were allowed the job Wednesday. Stan Simon, superintendent of the Y Union Bldg. reported that he believed that the workers were allowed to finish things like tile, grout, and cement work which were started before the strike was called.

It is not known how long the strike will continue or whether it will delay the progress on the two buildings. Both buildings were on the schedule due to the winter.

Drivers, Cyclists Security Lists Laws, Traffic Regulations

All students are reminded that they must apply and receive permits for their automobiles before they can park on campus. Permits will be granted only when the student presents receipts from the Security Cashier's Office showing the correct parking fee has been paid. Receipts should be presented at the Security Office in Smoot Administration Building for validation and issuance of permits. Parking permits must be pasted to the top of the automobile according to instructions in order that permit be valid.

Failure to produce permits or to use them correctly on the automobile is considered a violation of special regulations for the campus. Students are charged with the following traffic infractions: Improper operation; moving violations; violations of traffic signs and regulations. Parking fines are five dollars and moving registration and moving infractions are five dollars. Students who receive three more tickets will be referred to the University Standards Committee for disciplinary action. Regulations are also enforced on bicycles on the campus. Owners must purchase a permit, which costs one dollar. This must be pasted to the rear of the bicycle. Bicycles may be generally anywhere automobiles are on campus, but there are special regulations for the rider. The Security Office is in charge of enforcing automobile and bicycle regulations.

Three More Concerts...

String Quartet Plays For BYU Audiences

The American String Quartet will perform their last three performances for the current BYU Summer Music Festival this morning, this evening and tomorrow evening at the Joseph Smith Auditorium.

The quartet, composed of John Dalley, LaMar Alsop, David Schwartz and David Soyer, will perform Haydn's "Quartet in G minor, Opus 74, No. 3" and Walter Piston's "Quartet No. 3" Thursday. The concert will begin at 10 a.m.

Thursday at 8:15 p.m. the group will play Beethoven's "Quartet in C minor, Opus 18, No. 4" and Mendelssohn's "Quartet in D major, Opus 44, No. 1." Admission will be by activity card for the evening performances, and a married student may admit his spouse on his card.

At the final performance Friday evening at 8:15 p.m., the quartet will perform Haydn's "Quartet in D minor, Opus 76, No. 2" and Debussy's "Quartet, Opus 10."

John Dalley, who joined the quartet as first violinist in 1963, is a resident of New York City. He was concertmaster for the Robert Shaw Choral on its recent tour of the Soviet Union.

LaMar Alsop, second violinist, has made extensive solo concert tours of North America since he was 17. A native of Murray, he is a graduate of the University of Utah and a recipient of an M.A. degree from Columbia University.

Violist David Schwartz was a member of the NBC Symphony under the direction of Toscanini and was first violinist with Pablo Casals in Puerto Rico. He resigned from the Paganini Quartet to found the American Quartet.

David Soyer, cellist, made his debut at 17 as soloist with the Philadelphia Orchestra. He has received high praise for recitals given in Carnegie and Town Halls, New York.

Of additional interest is the instruments on which three of the members of the quartet play. The viola, owned by David Schwartz, is a Gaspar di Salo Viola which was made in 1590 is one of the oldest in existence. David Soyer's cello was created by Joseph Guarnerius in 1714 and is a collector's item noted for its extraordinary tones.

LaMar Alsop's cello was made in 1690.

The elected officers will take charge of the student executive administration of summer school activities, coordinate assemblies and preside over the summer social events.

Dave Youkstetter is also interested in locating talented persons to participate in the nominations assembly to be held on June 25. Those interested in participating can sign up in room 180 of the Clark Student Service Center.

Court Outlaws Public School's Use of Religion

In an eight to one decision Monday, the Supreme Court ruled that use of the Lord's prayer and bible reading in public schools is unconstitutional. At that point Justice Clark cited the First Amendment's assertion that "Congress shall make no law respecting the establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof. His opinion appeared to stress the first part of this declaration.

Justice Clark in giving the decision said, "In the relationship between man and religion, the state is firmly committed to a position of neutrality. At that point Justice Clark cited the First Amendment's assertion that "Congress shall make no law respecting the establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof. His opinion appeared to stress the first part of this declaration.

The only dissenting voice was that of Justice Potter Stewart. In a blistering accusation directed at his colleagues, Justice Stewart said, "We err... if we do not recognize as a matter of history and as a matter of imperatives of our free society, that religion and government must necessarily interact in countless ways."

The action brought comment from members of Congress. Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) questioned whether the opening of the Senate and House sessions with a prayer would be legal. Rep. Richard L. Roudsbusch (R-Ind.) said he would introduce a constitutional amendment to circumvent the ruling. Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) said the Court's decision is the law of the land and should be accepted as such, "while we make a studied analysis of the implications and decide what to do about the situation."

More than 150 students from schools in Utah, Idaho, Oregon, California, Arizona, Nevada, Colorado and Wyoming are expected to attend.

Registration will live in BYU residence halls and use facilities of the Journalism Department and press. The fee of $40 includes registration, housing and meals.

Summer School Offers Growth

Summertime means various things to various people. It means vacations to the mountains, at the beach, to a large city, to the country, or an ocean voyage. At least that's what we find out from reading books, magazines, and newspapers.

However, the majority of the students enrolled at BYU this summer have probably always thought of summertime as that frantic three months of the year in which they must earn enough money to return to school the next year.

WHAT DOES THE summer season mean to us this year? Are we trying to get those last few classes taken care of before the requirements for August graduation? By taking classes now will we be able to take a lighter load our Senior year? Or, is summer school just an opportunity to take a few extra classes, meet new people and have new experiences?

Whatever our reason for being here, we are basically and first of all students. We are not only students in the classroom; but we are students of life. The first pre-requisite of a student is to THINK.

It is the hope of the Daily Universe that as you make your way from class to class surrounded by the green foliage and the beauty of things growing, that you too will grow intellectually and spiritually.

We will always welcome your thoughts, opinions, and criticisms. The newspaper should be a voice of the students. We hope you will help us make it one.

No Prayer! What Comes Next?

It has often been said that big things come from small beginnings. Maybe the Supreme Court's decision to bar Bible-reading and recital of the Lord's Prayer in public schools as part of the required classroom exercises is only a small and, to many people, an insignificant happening.

Yet, where will it lead? According to The Salt Lake Tribune, June 18, the Court has not stated whether such observations would be possible on a permissive basis. Also people are beginning to wonder if it is proper to open any government meetings, etc. with prayer.

JUSTICE POTTER STEWART seemed to show much intelligence and integrity as he stood up against the rest of the Court with his dissenting vote. This took courage and certainly should receive commendation.

During President Dwight D. Eisenhower's administration, the words "under God" were added to the pledge of allegiance to the flag. Even though no specific reason was given at that time, it seemed to show a recognition of a supreme power behind the establishment of these United States.

Will the day come when we as a country do not admit that there is a Creator? Will the day come (in the near future) when man receives credit for all things?

CHILDREN ARE very impressionable. The Bible says, "Train a child up in the way he should go and he will not depart from it."

Many children in this country grow up in homes in which there is no opportunity of learning of a divine Creator or of prayer. These children may become the leaders of our country. What happens then?

The small spattering of spirituality gained through the recitation of the Lord's Prayer certainly would not hurt any child and since it is non-denominational should not be objectionable to any but agnostics or atheists.

WE DO NOT FORCE people to pray, but it wouldn't hurt the atheist children to learn respect for others by sitting quietly for the few minutes the recitation of the prayer requires.

As parents and future parents, we should be very concerned about this issue. Will the day come when our children are not permitted to pray in the school room?

PRESIDENT DAVID O. MCKAY of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints has spoken out very strongly on the issue in the following words:

"For a hundred years boys and girls born in America, and they who later obtained citizenship in this great country, have felt that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are: 'life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.'"

"It is a sad and regretful fact that a part of the United States would discourage all reference in our schools to the influence of the phrase 'divine providence' as used by our founders of the Declaration of Independence."

Evidently the Supreme Court misinterpreted the true meaning of the First Amendment and is now leading a Christian nation down the road to atheism."

Summer Offices Are Important!

APATHY! This epithet has been flung around BYU quite extensively during the past few years. It has been used to describe everything from our intellectual climate to the number of students voting in a campus election.

It seems that unless corrected the current summer session will completely justify the claim as it applies to student government. Not one application has been picked up for the coming student elections.

ACCORDING TO THE scrap-book of like reports filed on past sessions, summer government deals largely with traditional activities such as the chicken fry, watermelon feast, and summer dance and assembly. However, in addition to these events the officers and their appointed officials have the opportunity to use all the ingenuity and originality they may wish to in planning and executing new projects and activities.

Looking at student government realistically, it amounts to work, but in addition, it also results in a great deal of valuable experience. Even the traditional activities take planning and allow for growth and responsibility.

If you have ever worked on a project in which you conceived the idea, designed the plans and carried out the details and then saw the gleaming result you know the feeling of satisfaction. Not all projects deserve a "well done" pat, but the learning derived from mistakes is often the finest reward.

PERHAPS THE GLORY of holding a summer school office is not as glorious as the same position would be during a regular school year, but it offers just as great a challenge in its short duration and looks just as good on an application.

Gulliver's Travels Means Adventure

Featured this week at Film Favorites, 167 McKay Building, as the first movie of the semester is Columbia Pictures version of Jonathan Swift's fabulous adventure classic "GULLIVER'S TRAVELS."

Technical magic takes Gulliver as a giant to the little people of Lilliput and as a miniature house-hold pet to the giant land of the Houyhnhnms.

One of the few marvelous literary works of fantasy has been brought excitingly and directly to the screen in this film. Through the miracle of Superdynamation, a real life Gulliver is able to lead the audience from our world to the worlds of the very little and the very big people created by Swift.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"HERE IT IS ALMOST THE END OF THE TERM AND YOU HAVEN'T BEEN TARDY OR ABSENT? YOU HAVE DONE THE ASSIGNED HOMEWORK AND YOUR PAPERS HAVE BEEN HANDLED ON TIME? TELL ME, HAS THE DRAFT MAN BEEN HEREIN? YOU ABOUT GRAPES AGAIN?"

Student Gives Warning...

Water, Traffic Hazards Add Adventure to School

by Dallas Sproule

Having been a student for the past year and a half, I feel qualified in giving advice to all new students. You will find that our campus is extremely beautiful; but in many areas hazards are waiting to snare the unsuspecting student.

Because of my undying loyalty to all students, I feel a sense of duty to inform old and new residents of these treacherous misfortunes which may befall anyone.

THE FIRST danger spot is on the campus. Many times the student is so engrossed with political issues, latest stock market results, and concern over the food at Cannon Center that they are completely unaware of the danger which is lurking at their very side as they walk to classes.

Suddenly, it is too late and there is no escape from the swirling water. From every direction gallons of fresh sparkling water come at you.

Since it takes an experienced student to recognize the signs of the times, here are some helpful hints which can benefit all students in preparing themselves for that walk across campus.

THE CULPRIT who goes about doing this mischievous work is easily distinguishable. He is usually dressed in an inconspicuous outfit of dirty tennis shoes, smudged T shirt, blue pants, and a deep golden tan. This person is usually an evicted Californian. Don't worry—after you have been drunched four or five times you develop a sixth sense.

Also students be careful when walking downtown, across streets, and on the sidewalk. Utah drivers are sneaky, the average student will think a safe and all of a sudden he will be surrounded by all types of cars, going all types of speeds.

Another gimmick used by the city is the traffic lights. You will find that when crossing any street in Provo, you will get in the middle of the street and the light will change. There you are in the street dodging cars that are aimed to get you dead or alive.

These are just two of the problems you will be challenged with during your college career.

Watch For...

All students interested in working on the Fall Orientation Committee should fill out an application in 170 of the Student Service Center. The application should be placed in Chris Toronto's box by Monday.

Coming "DUMBO"

Not for Birds; New Student Needs Home

by Tom Fensch
and Dallas Sprouse

College students returning to dormitories for classes have often been compared to nesting birds; dormitory housemothers make sure that all their "babies" are safely in their nests. This time, however, a real-live bird came to college.

On the corner of University Avenue and the campus, a new student of BYU made his residence in the metal cylinder around the traffic signal.

IN A DRAMATIC first interview, the Daily Universe received the story straight from the bird himself. The new student planned to enroll in courses in the Geography, Physics and Air Science departments. He plans to enlarge his information concerning weather, climate, and the science of flying.

Speaking to Daily Universe reporters, he stated that he enjoyed the campus and hoped that he would be able to stay for the second season.

He became quite flighty and upset when the City of Provo evicted him from the city property just as we were concluding his interview.

Daily Universe reporters gently reminded him of the adage that birds of a Feather Flock together, but not on traffic signals, as a general rule.

Play Tryouts Scheduled

A glowing comedy of a lightning romance between an attractive young English lady and a handsome American will be the second production of the Summer Theatre Season, according to Preston R. Gedhill, director.

Tryouts for John Van Drogen's "There's Always Juliet" will be held Wednesday and Thursday at 4 p.m. in 1205 SFLC. There will also be tryouts in 2320 SFLC Thursday, 7 p.m.

The play calls for two men and two women and everyone is invited to try out said Dr. Gedhill.

Drama Graduate Receives Award

Ivan A. Crossland, a Brigham Young University graduate student in dramatic arts from Southern Illinois University, has been named one of four honorable mention winners in the second annual Intercollegiate Scene Design Competition and Exhibition.

Mr. Crossland entered his design for the Greek classic "Medea" in the contest held at Southern Illinois University. The stage design features a series of steps, pillars, ramps and high arches in colors of blue-gray and purple.

This is the second year BYU has had a prize-winner in the competition. Last year Lee Gifford took first place in the graduate division of the competition with his design for "Oedipus Rex" and Harold Oaks, BYU graduate now studying at University of Minnesota, was one of the honorable mention winners.

Dance Slated Thursday

The BYU Western Club will hold its first organizational meeting and dance Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Multipurpose Area of the SFLC.

Officers for the summer will be elected, plans for this summer's activities will be discussed and the remainder of the evening will be spent in dancing to music provided by Ernie Keller.

THE BYU Western Club is open to all students and is organized for those who enjoy dancing to western music. Dues will be one dollar for the full summer or fifty cents for each term.

The Summer Western Club is the only large social organization that functions during the summer months.

Its activities are held in co-operation with those of the entire studentbody. If the studentbody holds its activity on a Friday night the Western Club will hold theirs on Saturday and visa versa.

Some of the traditionally popular activities to be sponsored by the Western Club this summer are a Chicken Fry, Weekly Dances including the second annual "Timp Limp" following the Timpanogos hike and the annual Saturday western dance presented by the Western Club in conjunction with the studentbody officers.

Sociables to Hold Weekly Dances In Alumni House

All single people 23 and older are invited to join the "Latter-day Saint Sociables" for their weekly dance Thursday night, according to Babe Sharp.

These dances were instituted as an organization of the MIA board and have been in effect only about a year.

With the music of Bill Hanson and his band to dance to the group meets every Thursday night at the Alumni House. The dance is stag, 75c a ticket and refreshments will be served.

Clinic Sets Last Week Activities

The last week of the annual BYU Youth Clinic will run June 20 to the 28th. Classes plus special events and activities are planned for this period.

The annual Youth Clinic is for boys between the ages of 12 and 17. Classes are held daily in which the boys receive the fundamentals of baseball, basketball, gymnastics, tennis and track. Class groups are small and individual attention is given each boy. Boys are grouped by age, and every twenty boys are under the care of a counselor who follows them through the daily activities.

A TALENT show is planned for Friday evening. Saturday's activities include a hike up Provo Canyon for breakfast, then a trip to Timpanogos Cave and Sarcoga Park for swimming.

Sunday evening features a lecture by Professor Joseph Simmon of the Sociology department. He will lecture on the characteristics of a criminal; how to get into the Utah State Prison.

PARENTS are invited to the Awards Banquet, to be held the last evening of the Clinic. Boys who have been outstanding in their respective groups will be honored.

In addition to the sports fundamentals, the boys attended enrichment classes. These classes are "Making the Gospel Live," "Speaking with a Purpose" and "What is New in Science."

The boys represent most of the Western states. Thirty are from Utah, 22 from California and others from Idaho, Arizona, Florida, Texas, Wyoming, and Nevada.

Driving Class Available

Individuals desiring to learn how to drive can get some classroom instruction and "behind the wheel" driving experience by contacting the Health Education Department at 1202 Smith Fieldhouse or by calling Ext. 2228.

Anyone interested should make the arrangements in the next few days, according to the Health Education Dept.

Key Punch Class Offered

A Key Punch Class will be offered by the Office of Special Courses and Conference beginning Monday at 6:30 for one hour per day. The class will be limited to seven students and the fee is $20 per student. For information call Ext. 2411.

Sports Activities Slated For Summer Diversion

With the arrival of beautiful weather that suggests summer fun, the BYU Intramural Program is ready to go into full swing next week under the direction of Jay Naylor of the Physical Education Department.

ENTRY BLANKS and information sheets can be obtained in Room 323 of the George Albert Smith Fieldhouse.

Sofball Meeting

All ward softball representatives are to be in attendance at a meeting to be held Thursday at five p.m. in the Smith Fieldhouse Room 323.

Cougar Signs With Big Time

A Cougar baseball star Billy Wright, has signed with the Boston Red Sox, for a substantial bonus. The star BYU outfielder came to our campus from Salt Lake City where he attended West High.

An all-around athlete, Bill has played both football and baseball for the Cougars, but of course his fame was established on the diamond as a three year attraction.

During the past season, Wright was No. 5 in the Western Athletic Conference batting race with a hefty .335 average, which boosted the Cougars in their winning of the northern division title.

"He's a strong right-handed pull hitter, the kind Boston's looking for," McGurk explained in making the announcement. "He's had an outstanding college career, and he's the high-type prospect I like to get into our organization."

Wright is a 21-year old who checks in at 6'1, weighs 190. He bats and throws right.
